

Regarding Juli Oliver and OrganizeNY

November 24, 2010

To whom it may concern:

What I love about Juli is that working with her is one of the rare situations where I always know that when I leave a project in her hands that it will be well thought out and meticulously executed, not only because Juli is highly capable but also because she really cares about the quality of her work. While she tends not to have many questions, the ones that she does ask are insightful and make the project better. Juli is a fantastic communicator and completely reliable. She is one of those rare individuals who combines idealism, dedication, and skill. She is also just a lovely person to be around. I cannot recommend her enough.

With my warmest regards,

Andrea Rosen
